

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

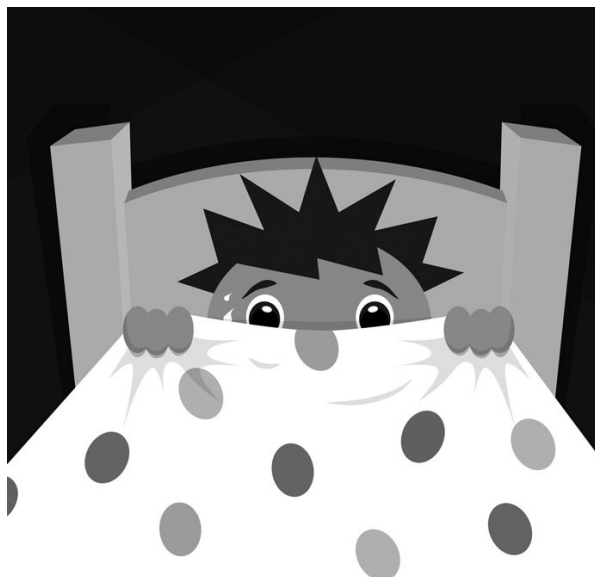

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: Dear Diary ... I had a nightmare last night!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Have you ever kept a journal? Why?
- What do you write about in your journal?

Can Do Statements

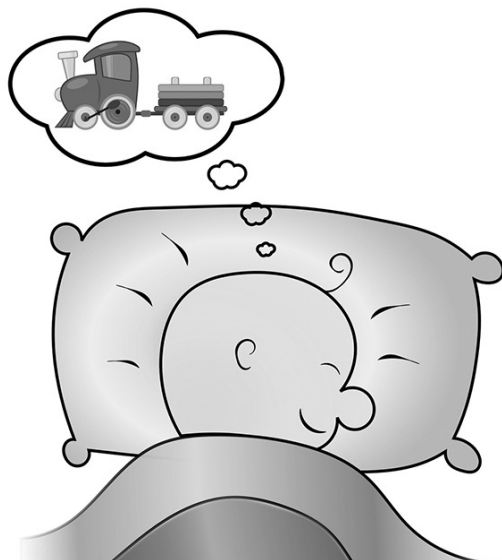

- I can write about healthy habits.
- I can write about experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can write about the quality of an object or a person and how something happens or how someone behaves.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa had a nightmare ... what was it about?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Dear Diary,

I've concluded that keeping a journal is a good way to help my mind become more at ease. Sally was right! I had a nightmare last night. It was the scariest dream I've had in a while. A man tried to get me and I couldn't run fast enough! I ran frantically through an open field. It was cold and dark. The man got gradually closer and closer. I felt his hand on my shoulder and then ... I woke up!

What does this mean? I've read a lot about nightmares online. People say that nightmares happen during REM (rapid eye movement) sleep when most dreaming happens. There are many causes of nightmares, some of which I can relate to. Namely, sleeplessness and anxiety.

Recently, I've had many discussions with Sally and Dr. Coats about my insomnia. I appreciate their help, but I feel like maybe I'm trying too hard to improve my sleep. I'm anxiously waiting for my sleep to improve ... and I think that's making it worse! This is the most frustrating experience!

Love, V

Let's Practice!

What a nightmare!

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Circle all the adverbs or superlative adjectives. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

I had a nightmare last night. It was the scariest dream I've had in a while. A man tried to get me and I couldn't run fast enough! I ran frantically through an open field. It was cold and dark. The man got gradually closer and closer. I felt his hand on my shoulder and then ... I woke up!

What does this mean? I'm anxiously waiting for my sleep to improve ... This is the most frustrating experience!

Let's Practice!

Imagine you have a journal. Write an entry about a dream (or nightmare) that you've had recently.

Instructions: Imagine you have a journal as a way to keep your mind at ease. Write a short entry (100 words) describing a dream or nightmare you've had recently. Use lots of descriptive words (adjectives and adverbs) to make your entry interesting to read.

Look at this example from the writing:

Dear Diary,

I had a nightmare last night. A man tried to get me and I couldn't run fast enough! I ran frantically through an open field. It was cold and dark. The man got gradually closer and closer. I felt his hand on my shoulder and then ... I woke up!

Love, V

Extension Activity

Write a short journal entry about today!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a short journal entry about what kind of day you had today.
- Be sure to include adjectives and adverbs to make your entry descriptive.
- If you want, share your entry with a partner.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a short journal entry about what I did today.

☐ ☐

I include a lot of description to make my entry interesting.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- journal (noun): a diary; a book where you write about daily, personal events
e.g. I've concluded that keeping a journal is a good way to relax my mind.
- to be at ease (expression): to be calm and relaxed
e.g. Keeping a journal is a good way to keep my mind at ease.
- nightmare (noun): a bad, scary dream
e.g. I had a nightmare last night.
- anxiety (noun): the feeling of worry or unease
e.g. I'm suffering from sleeplessness and anxiety.
- to relate to (verb): to connect to something else
e.g. I can relate to many causes of nightmares.
- frustrating (adjective): annoying
e.g. This is the most frustrating experience!
- frantically (adverb): quickly; in a hurried way
e.g. I ran frantically through an open field.

Learning Points

Superlatives

You use a superlative adjective to express the highest degree of a quality.

You use a superlative adjective to talk about one thing or person in a group of things. You always use the with the superlative.

Superlatives can be regular or irregular.

The structure of the regular superlative is:

the + adjective-est

or

the most adjective

Adjective	Superlative
good	the best
bad	the worst
fine	the finest
scary	the scariest
small	the smallest
frustrating	the most frustrating
intelligent	the most intelligent

Examples:

- I had the scariest dream last night.
- This is the most frustrating experience!

Writing a Journal Entry

You can write a journal entry to report about interesting, stressful, or traumatic events in your life, or just to write your feelings down to put your mind at ease.

When you write a journal entry, you usually start it with the phrase "Dear Diary", like you are writing a letter to yourself.

The entry usually begins with an opening statement (this is a summary of what you are going to write about).

Then you usually add some details (use adjectives and adverbs to describe the events and your feelings).

When you finish your entry, you usually end with a closing like "Love, (your name)".

