Let's Start!

It's time to move some things around in the bedroom!

Learning Outcome

Identify and provide solutions to problems in a range of social contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Why have you moved things around in your room?
- When was the last time you did?
When will you do it again ?
- How often do you like to change your bedroom around?

Can Do Statements

- I can offer advice and solutions about healthy habits.
- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can talk about what is necessary.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa writes in her diary. What is she writing about this time?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Dear Diary,

I've got to try out Feng Shui. I was surprised to learn that many people believe that the principles of Feng Shui can actually enhance and reinforce the quality of your sleep. I need to give my room a makeover! I ought to have done this sooner.

I'm going to have to go shopping this weekend. I'd better make a list of what I need to buy and what I need to get rid of. I have got to remove some of the mirrors in my room. Mirrors are thought to bounce energy around the bedroom, which may result in poor sleep and restlessness.

I'm going to have to get a headboard. I ought to paint my walls too. The general rule in Feng Shui is to decorate bedrooms with earthy tones. I've narrowed it down to beige, peach or a soft pink. This will be a good time to get some new bed linens and a duvet, and maybe a few cushions. I haven't had the chance to go shopping for my place yet.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa talks about what is advisable for her to do.

Instructions: Read the paragraph. Select all the correct answers according to the paragraph.

I need to give my room a makeover! I ought to have done this sooner. I'd better make a list of what I need to buy and what I need to get rid of. I ought to paint my walls too.

- a. She needs to give her room a makeover.
- b. She ought to have done this sooner.
- c. She should get a duvet.
- d. She'd better make a list of what she needs to buy and what she needs to get rid of.
- e. She ought to paint her walls too.
- f. She needs to get a new headboard.

Let's Practice!

Has Vanessa narrowed down* the colors? Is it the soft pink?

*"narrowed down" means to reduce the number of choices.

A "soft" color is pleasant and relaxing. It is not bright.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Underline the correct words to complete the paragraph.

I was surprised/surprising to learn that many people have said/has said that by following principles of Feng Shui, the quality of their sleep has enhanced. Learning Points

The Passive!

You use the Passive Voice when the focus is in the action and when the person who performs the action is not important or unknown.

Form	Subject	To have
Subject	+ verb to be	+ past participle

Examples:

- Mirrors are thought to bounce energy around the bedroom.
- They will be removed tomorrow.
- The walls were painted yesterday.

Necessity and Advisability

When you talk about what is necessary, you use have got to and going to have to.

When you talk about what is advisable, you use need to, could, should, ought to, and had better.

Necessity	Advisability
I've got to try out Feng Shui.	I could go to the mall with Sally.
I'm going to have to write down all the ideas I have.	I ought to paint the walls of my bedroom.
	You'd better get rid of all these mirrors.
	I should decide on which color I want.
