

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

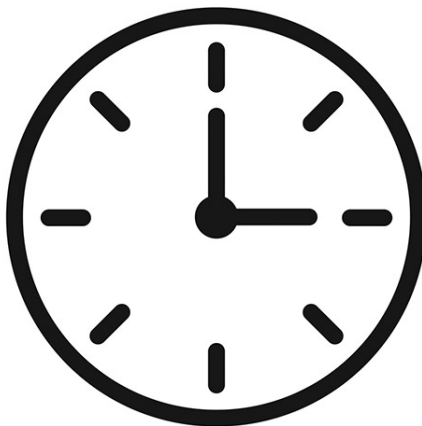

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

What time is it? It's time to wake up!

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- What time do you wake up?
- Have you woken up in the middle of the night?
- How do you fall back asleep?

Can Do Statements

- I can offer advice and solutions about healthy habits.
- I can discuss experiences I've had or haven't had.
- I can talk about how something happens or how someone behaves.

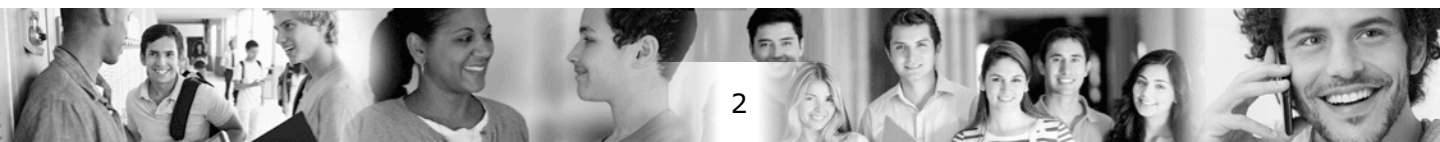

Let's Explore!

Vanessa shares her problem with Sally. Sally offers some advice and a solution. What is it?

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Sally: I really need to cut down on my caffeine intake.
Vanessa: Mhmm, Sally. You should give it up slowly, you know? You ought to gradually cut back.
Sally: I guess.
Vanessa: You might want to try some tea instead. You like tea don't you?
Sally: Hmmm ... I haven't drunk any tea since I was in China. I used to drink tea every morning!
Vanessa: I've started to drink chamomile tea. I've read that it helps with falling asleep and at this point, I need all the help I can get!
Sally: You're still having trouble sleeping?
Vanessa: Yeah, I find myself repeatedly waking up throughout the night. I just want a good night's sleep.
Sally: You ought to try to naturally adjust your sleep-wake cycle.
Vanessa: My sleep ... what cycle?
Sally: It refers to the 24 hours in a day. You're awake for 16 and sleep for 8.
Vanessa: I haven't slept for 8 hours in ages!
Sally: You might want to start a sleep diary?
Vanessa: Cute, Sally.
Sally: I've found writing down my thoughts in a diary to be therapeutic. You might want to try it out. You may even find it helps you develop some good habits!
Vanessa: I guess I can try.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa needs all the* help she can get! What's Sally's advice? A sleep diary?

*"all the ..." means as much of a specific thing as possible.

A "sleep diary" is a book in which you write about your sleep routine.

Instructions: Proofread the sentences. Correct the mistakes. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

1. You otta give it up slowly.
2. You've better cut back gradually.
3. You might tries some green tea instead.
4. You shoulda want to try to adjust your sleep-wake cycle.
5. You cold start a sleep diary.

Let's Practice!

Sally is talking to Vanessa. What does she need to cut back* on at this point?

*"to cut back" means to reduce the amount of something.

"at this point" is an expression that means right now.

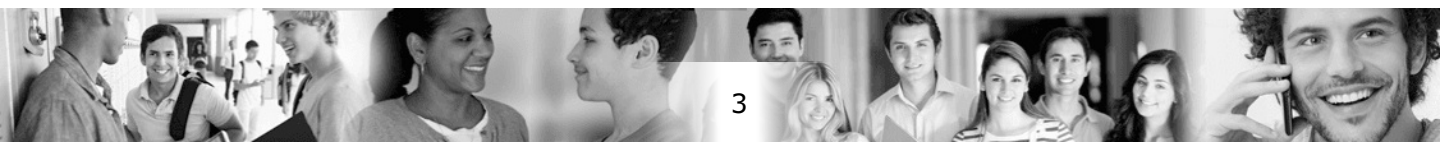

Instructions: Draw a line to match the sentences in Column A and Column B. When you complete the sentences, read the sentences aloud with your partner. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. I
2. You should give it up
3. You ought to
4. I've
5. I find myself
6. You could try to

COLUMN B

- a. slowly.
- b. really need to cut down on my caffeine intake.
- c. naturally adjust your sleep-wake cycle.
- d. gradually cut back on the caffeine.
- e. repeatedly waking up throughout the night.
- f. started to drink chamomile tea.

Extension Activity

You are going to keep a sleep diary.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Go on the Internet.
- Find out what a sleep diary looks like. How is the page organized?
- Make a 5 day sleep diary for yourself using the example you found.
- Fill out the sleep diary for 5 days.
- After the 5 days, look at your entries. What can you say about your sleeping schedule? What would you change? Why?
- Share your findings with a partner. Listen to their findings. Can you offer them any advice or solutions about their sleeping habits?

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write about experiences I have or haven't had in a sleep diary.

☐ ☐

I write about how something happens.

☐ ☐

I offer my partner advice or a solution about their sleeping habits.

☐ ☐

Target Words

- intake (noun): the amount of food or drink that you take into your body
e.g. I'd better cut down on my caffeine intake.
- gradually (adverb): happening slowly over a long period of time
e.g. You should gradually cut down on coffee.
- tea (noun): a drink made from leaves that are heated with steam e.g. I used to drink tea when I was in China.
- chamomile tea (noun): tea made from a plant with small white and yellow flowers
e.g. I drink chamomile tea before going to bed.
- a good night's sleep (expression): when you wake up in the morning feeling alert and refreshed
e.g. I just want a good night's sleep.
- therapeutic (adjective): making you feel calm and relaxed
e.g. I find writing in a journal to be very therapeutic.

Learning Points

What haven't you done?

You can talk about what you have not done

You use the Present Perfect in negative to express what experiences you haven't had or things you haven't done.

Form
Subject I/you/we/they He/she	+ auxiliary haven't hasn't	+ past participle *	+ complement

*For irregular verbs you use the past participle.

For regular verbs you add -ed at the end of the verb in the infinitive.

Examples:

- I haven't drunk any tea since I was in China.
- I haven't slept for eight hours in ages!
- She hasn't cut down her caffeine.
- You haven't started a sleep diary.

Learning Points

Offering Advice and Solutions

You can offer advice and solutions to people on how to improve their habits or well-being.

Remember to offer advice politely and to use the modals could, should or might to give a solution.

When offering advice and solutions, you can also use adverbs of manner to describe how something should be done.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to offer advice and solutions:

- You should ...
- You could ...
- You might ...
- You need to ...
- You ought to ... (strong request)
- You had better ... (strong request)

Examples:

- You ought to cut down on the coffee slowly.
- You should drink more tea.
- You need to think carefully.
- You'd better do this quickly.

