Let's Start!

Yoga, music or a bath? What's the best way to relax?

Learning Outcome

Describe routines and regular activities in a wider range of social and work contexts.

Ask your partner:

- Do you have a bedtime routine? What is it?
- What helps you relax before going to bed?

Can Do Statements

- I can offer advice and solutions about healthy habits.
- I can talk about what people do or what people are doing.
- I can describe the quality of an object or a person.

Let's Explore!

Vanessa writes in her diary. What is she not liking?

* "Liking" is an informal way of saying enjoying.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Dear Diary,

Sally says that I ought to stick to a sleep schedule but I'm a light sleeper. The slightest bit of noise usually wakes me up so I'm having a hard time staying asleep. I'm trying to read before I go to bed but I'm not liking it too much. My mom says I should stick with it, she finds it to be the most relaxing of activities. I'm thinking about another bedtime routine I can follow.

I want to find one that helps me relax and unwind for the night. I read an article that advised meditating for about 10 minutes. It's the quickest way to relax your mind and body. The article also says I could listen to soothing music or soak in a warm bath. The warm bath sounds the most appealing.

Sally mentioned that I might want to include some essential oils in my bath. She says it's one of the most calming things to do before bed, but it should be taken 60 to 90 minutes before bedtime.

Let's Practice!

Vanessa writes about different bedtime routines. Do you follow any of them?

Instructions: Underline all the superlatives in the paragraph and make new sentences with them.

Learning Points

Simple Present and Continuous Tenses

When using the Present Continuous tense, we concentrate on the duration of a particular activity. You are aware of the passing of time between the start and the end of the activity. This activity is not permanent.

Examples:

- I'm having a hard time staying asleep!
- I have to find a new bedtime routine!

The Simple Present describes an action that is seen as complete.

Example:

- I have a sleep schedule.

Offering Advice and Solutions

You can offer advice and solutions to people on how to improve their health.

Remember to offer advice politely and to use the modals could, should or might to give a solution.

When offering advice and solutions, you can also use superlatives. You use a superlative adjective to talk about one thing in a group of things. Remember to always use the with the superlative.

Here is a list of expressions you can use to offer advice and solutions:

- I advise ...
- You should/could ...
- You might ...
- You ought to ... (strong request)
- You had better ... (strong request)

Examples:

- She said that I ought to visit the best doctor in the city.
- You'd better find the smallest one you can.
- You might want to remove the largest distraction from your bedroom.
